We know that families who've experienced the sudden and unexpected death of a baby are often very anxious when they have another baby.

CONI is a bereavement support programme providing emotional support to bereaved families. This helps you gain confidence during the early months of your baby's life and gives you peace of mind.

You will also receive information about safer sleep, reducing the risk of sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS).

Talk to your midwife or health visitor if you have any questions, or contact us:

CONI families can have as much or as little support as they need.

With support from your CONI coordinator, you can choose which elements of support you'd like:

- Increased contact from your health visitor or professional.
- Movement monitor to borrow that picks up your baby's breathing.
- Basic life support training to guide you through what to do if your baby stops breathing.
- Symptom diary to check and record baby's health.
- Baby Check app that helps you decide if your baby needs medical help.
- Increased weighing using a detailed weight chart to monitor your baby's growth.
- Room thermometer to help you keep the room your baby sleeps in at a safe temperature.
- CONI healthcare passport so your baby can be seen quickly if they're unwell.
